November 2015

A note from the committee committee

The beach is back! The start of the season had us jumping off the stairs to reach the sand and negotiating rocks that are rarely exposed at South Curly. The annual cycle of sand movement was greater this year than most, but as has always been the case, the sand has returned. We are now able to access the ramp and get IRB's on the beach at last.

The building works are all but completed, with disabled access ramp and new stairs, providing greatly improved access to the centre viewing deck. We will also pick up some valuable additional storage space beneath the new ramp, something that is always in short supply around the club.

Thanks to all those who have completed their proficiency. For those active members who have not, your last opportunity is on December 13th. Please check details for start time and plan to spend the morning at the club as we have a large number of members to get through.

Our Christmas party is on Saturday 19th of September so mark this in your calendars and come join us at one of the best venues in Sydney, our own surf club. Details are included in this newsletter and this is always a great night to catch up with friends and make new ones.

Christmas Day Patrol

As in previous years, Christmas Day is a voluntary patrol day with no one officially rostered on for the day. We try to break the day up into 4x2 hour blocks, if you are able to provide some time please add

.....your name to the list in the Patrol Captains room or let Kevin know when you can assist. Two hours on the beach at South Curly can be a great escape on Christmas day!

Competitors

Don't forget that December 31 is the cut-off for gaining Patrol hours for competition eligibility. Our rostered hours do not fulfil this obligation and you need to ensure you do some additional hours before the end of the year if you have not already done so. Hours can be checked though your life saving on-line account.

Sippers

Don't wait until our Christmas Party to catch up with all your Sth Curly mates, come along to our next Sippers, this Sunday 29th November – all welcome, dinner served, bar open from 5pm
